

ALEX MORGAN

Boston, MA · (+1) 555-123-4567 · alex.morgan@university.edu ·
www.alexmorganacademic.com

---

Education

PhD in Sociology, Northeastern University, Expected May 20XX

Dissertation (working title): “Precarious Work and Digital Surveillance in Service Jobs”

Advisor: Professor Dana Lee

MA in Sociology, Northeastern University, 20XX

BA in Psychology, magna cum laude, University of Vermont, 20XX

---

Research Interests

Precarious and gig work · workplace surveillance · organizational behavior · mixed-method research · digital labor platforms.

---

Research Experience

Graduate Research Assistant, Digital Labor Lab, Northeastern University, 20XX–Present

- Collaborate on a mixed-method study of algorithmic scheduling in food-delivery platforms.
- Clean and analyze survey data (N = 1,200) using R and Stata.
- Co-authored conference abstracts and contributed figures and tables for a manuscript in preparation.

Master’s Thesis Researcher, Department of Sociology, Northeastern University, 20XX–20XX

- Designed and conducted 25 semi-structured interviews with call-center workers on burnout and turnover.

- Presented preliminary findings at the Northeastern Graduate Research Symposium.

---

Teaching Experience

Teaching Assistant, Introduction to Sociology, Northeastern University, 20XX–20XX

- Led two weekly discussion sections (25 students each) focused on applying core concepts to real-world cases.
- Graded exams and essays; provided detailed written and verbal feedback on academic writing.

Teaching Assistant, Research Methods, Northeastern University, 20XX

- Supported labs on survey design, sampling, and introductory data analysis in R.
- Held weekly office hours and offered one-on-one support on term-project design.

---

Publications & Selected Presentations

Morgan, A., & Lee, D. (in preparation). “Scheduling by Algorithm: Precarious Time in Food-Delivery Work.” Manuscript in preparation for submission to Work and Occupations.

Morgan, A. (20XX, August). “Burnout, Scripts, and Control in Call-Center Work.” Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Sociological Association, Chicago, IL.

Morgan, A. (20XX, April). “Why Workers Stay: Narratives of Loyalty in Precarious Jobs.” Poster presented at the Northeastern Graduate Research Symposium, Boston, MA.

---

Methods & Skills

Methods: qualitative interviewing · focus groups · survey design · mixed-methods integration.

Data & Software: R · Stata · NVivo · Excel · Qualtrics · basic Git/GitHub workflows.

Teaching & Communication: small-group facilitation · syllabus and assignment design · conference presentations · public-facing writing.

---

Honors & Awards

Graduate Fellowship, Northeastern University College of Social Sciences and Humanities, 20XX–20XX

Best MA Thesis Prize, Department of Sociology, Northeastern University, 20XX

Dean's List, University of Vermont, 20XX–20XX

---

References

Available upon request.